Even with a tight deadline, you can come through with flying colors

Time flies. It can seem like there's never enough time...especially if you need something printed in full color.

Now there's enough time

Better still, digital printing eliminates many of the time-consuming steps required by the traditional printing process. There's no film. No plates. No blueslines to approve. No match prints to review.

With McBee, your "proof" is an actual printed sample on the paper you've chosen.

Personalized materials just as quickly

Our digital printing systems make it possible to produce highly personalized materials on a tight timeframe—personalized text and graphics. For example, you can:

- ▶ Personalize names and addresses—even names or addresses within graphics.
- ▶ Extend certain offers to some people and different offers to other people.
- ▶ Include photos of some products to part of your audience and different product shots to other recipients.
- ▶ Send one message to prospects, another to past customers, and still another to current loyal customers.

This is a great advantage for database marketers—or any marketer who wishes to test offers, product descriptions or mailing designs. McBee's ability to print customized full-color work in short runs will also appeal to marketers who need focus group materials, trade show or convention materials, and much more.
